Re: Continued Funding of the San Fernando Valley North Hollywood Existing Remedy

Dear Glenn C. McElroy:

As you may already be aware, the United States Environmental Protection Agency, Region IX ("EPA"), is in the process of developing a new remedy for groundwater cleanup at the North Hollywood Operable Unit ("NHOU") of the San Fernando Valley – Area 1 Superfund Site. As set forth in Section I. F. of the 1996 Partial Consent Decree and the 1997 Second Partial Consent Decree in United States v. Allied Signal et al. (the "Consent Decrees"), the remedy selected in the 1987 Record of Decision ("First Interim Remedy") was intended to operate for fifteen years. Since the fifteen-year term for the First Interim Remedy ended in December, 2004, EPA has continued to operate the NHOU extraction and treatment system (the "Existing Remedy") using the remaining funds in the special account established pursuant to the Consent Decrees ("Consent Decree Funds"). EPA expects that the Consent Decree Funds, however, will be exhausted by June 30, 2008.

Over the last two years, EPA has been evaluating alternatives for a new remedy that will more effectively contain the plume, address VOC contamination discovered in new areas of the NHOU, and address emerging contaminants, e.g., hexavalent chromium (the "New Remedy"). EPA anticipates issuing a proposed plan in the spring of 2008, finalizing a record of decision ("ROD") for the New Remedy in September, 2008, and issuing special notice for consent decree negotiations to implement the ROD shortly thereafter. The New Remedy, however, is not likely to begin operating for several years.

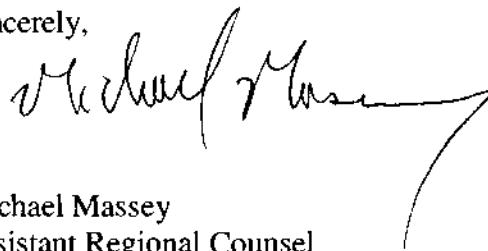

In order to maintain containment of the plume and protect drinking water wells owned and operated by the Los Angeles Department of Water and Power ("LADWP"), the Existing Remedy must continue operating after the Consent Decree Funds expire in June 2008 and before the New Remedy becomes operational (the "Intervening Period").

EPA would like to discuss options for ongoing funding of the Existing Remedy during the Intervening Period. Estimated annual costs for continued operation of the Existing Remedy are $500,000.

If EPA and the signatories to the Consent Decrees cannot reach an agreement to keep the Existing Remedy operating during the Intervening Period, EPA will either: (1) order the PRPs to contain the plume during the Intervening Period; or (2) fund operation of the Existing Remedy itself and recover costs from the potentially responsible parties (the "PRPs") at a later date. In addition to the above-listed possibilities, the PRPs also face potential liability to (1) LADWP if the Existing Remedy ceases to operate and NHOU contamination impacts additional LADWP wells or if its ability to deliver water to its customers is compromised; and (2) the State of California if it incurs costs associated with operating the Existing Remedy during the Intervening Period.

EPA believes that this process can be carried out most efficiently and constructively by meeting directly with the recipients of this letter or their representatives, and we are hereby inviting you to meet with us at EPA's Los Angeles offices on Thursday, May 1, 2008, at 10:00 am. EPA expects that the recipients of this letter will make a decision about whether they intend to fund operation of the Existing Remedy during the Intervening Period by Thursday, May 15, 2008. For your information and to facilitate organization, we have enclosed the names and addresses of the parties that have received this letter.

Sincerely,
